RUPERT, Aug. 1—Mrs. Carlos Anaya, 28, Heyburn, died early Monday morning at the Minidoka county hospital of internal injuries incurred in a two-car accident at 1 p.m. Saturday at an intersection two miles west of Rupert. She was delivered of a still-born daughter Sunday morning. Attending physicians at the hospital said Mrs. Anaya was eight months pregnant and the death of the child resulted from injuries received in the collision. Mrs. Anaya was one of six passengers in a car driven by her husband, who was cited by Minidoka Deputy Sheriff Howard Platt for failure to yield the right of way. Other passengers in the car were Carlos Anaya, jr., 4; Lawren Davis, 17; Zeda Davis, 15, and Susan Besswanger, 16, all Heyburn.

Lawren Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Davis, is in Magic Valley Memorial hospital where attendants say his condition was "fair" Monday noon. His injuries include a fractured pelvis.

Cuban Crisis Is Predicted; Castro Rests

HAVANA, Aug. 1 (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro was ordered today by his doctors to take an "absolute rest, mental as well as physical," of unspecified duration. The announcement touched off speculation of a crisis in leadership in Cuba. It also started a wave of rumors as to the nature of the ailment which has kept him out of public view for days. Castro's illness was officially diagnosed as convalescence from a serious pneumonia infection. He was first reported ill last June 9, and has made only two public appearances since—a television speech July 17 and a two-hour talk to an estimated 200,000 Cubans at a mass rally in the Sierra Maestra of eastern Cuba on July 26.

He appeared wan and weak and complained repeatedly of not feeling well.

Today's official announcement, that Castro must have absolute rest spurred belief his brother Raul might take over the premiership, officially or unofficially, for the time it takes Fidel to recover.

Raul, present armed forces minister, returned urgently from a European tour last week which he cut short by four days. He has been repeatedly pre-designated by Premier Castro as his successor in the event of his death or disability.

Although the medical bulletin on Castro's condition diagnosed it as stemming from a bout with pneumonia, most medical sources said it was an ailment that necessitated surgery.

Army Doctor Maj. Raul Trillo, said Castro's condition was "satisfactory" and that he was not in any danger whatsoever.

Trillo disclosed that Castro's condition had at first been considered serious because of a loss of weight, but that he was responding to "complete rest, good food and injections." He said Cas-

Sheriff Says Murder Case in Area Solved

GOODING, Aug. 1—Sheriff Keith Anderson returned to Gooding Sunday night, convinced Emmett Spencer, 29, Sandy Hook, Ky., was involved in the desert slaying of Dr. John Hunt, jr., 37, Portland, near here Aug. 24, 1959. The officer also implicated Mary Katherine Hampton, 18, who came to Idaho last summer from California. A third suspect, alluded to by Spencer and Miss Hampton during questioning in Florida, is being sought, according to the sheriff. Sheriff Anderson went to Key West, Fla., Wednesday night after being informed of Spencer's answers to questions put to him by Florida authorities concerning other killings. Gooding Prosecuting Attorney Cecil Hobdey accompanied the sheriff.

Spencer will be tried for another murder Aug. 22 in Florida. He was reported to have killed several persons during a spree last summer, which took him from California to Idaho, back to California and then East. The day before Christmas, he and Miss Hampton moved East.

Sheriff Anderson questioned Spencer and Miss Hampton for six hours. He said Spencer told him

Tipsy Driver Jailed In Wake of Mishap

Theodore Roy, 37, Houston, Tex., pleaded guilty in Twin Falls police court Monday morning of drunk driving and was fined $100 and costs by Police Judge J. O. Pumphrey. His license was suspended for one year and he received 10 days in the city jail. The fine had not been paid at 11 a.m. Monday. Roy was arrested by city police at 11:55 p.m. Sunday after being involved in an accident at the intersection of Washington street south and South Park avenue. He left the scene and was arrested by pursuing police.

His 1955 De Soto, going south on South Park, sideswiped a 1953 Ford driven by Elmer E. Leichliter, 343 Third avenue east. Damage to the Leichliter car amounted to about $150 to the left front fender and the Roy vehicle had about $100 damage, also on the left front fender.

Roy's wife was arrested by police at the same time and charged with being drunk in an auto. She was released to her brother-in-law, Wilbert Roy, later Sunday after he had posted a $50 bond for her. She appeared in police court Monday morning, pleaded guilty and was fined $35 and costs.

John Herbert Jackson, 17, Burley, was fined $100 and sentenced to 20 days in the Cassia county jail Friday afternoon by Burley Probate Judge Vern Carter for driving with a suspended driver's license. The judge suspended 15 days of the jail sentence upon payment of the fine and made five days mandatory. Jackson was cited by Cassia Deputy Sheriff Robert Akens for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone. His license had been revoked twice within a year.

Raymond Trueblood, 17, Buhl, was cited for reckless driving following a one-car accident at 6:45 p.m. Saturday three-fourths of a mile northeast of the Buhl city limits in a residential area.

Trueblood, driving a 1957 Chevrolet, traveled off the right shoulder of the roadway going into a sideways skid, traveled back across the highway striking a mailbox, then traveled on striking a telephone pole which split lengthwise. The car then ricocheted off the $100,000

BOISE, Aug. 1 (AP)—The state of Idaho received $100,000 from the federal government today to help defray the costs of recent fires on state forest and rangelands.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie said a good deal of the money will be expended to pay firefighters who battled the blazes.

The federal money was authorized recently by President Eisenhower when he declared Idaho's fire-ravaged forests and ranges a disaster area. Up to $250,000 was authorized for federal assistance and the state had requested that $100,000 be made available immediately.

Hottest July on Record for T.F. Has 27 Days Above 90 Degrees

Last month was the hottest July ever recorded in Twin Falls since records were started in 1906. There were only four days in which the mercury didn't climb higher than 90 degrees—July 2, 3, 4 and 31. The first two days of less than 90 degrees were 84 and the second two were 87. Another record was set last month when five consecutive days exceeded 100 degrees, July 18 through 22, when the mercury rose to 102, 104, 102 and 101 twice. There were no other days in which the official high temperature was more than 100 degrees.

These official figures were released Monday by the bureau of entomology research division, where weather records have been kept since 1925.

The maximum average temperature for July is 94.8 degrees. The minimum average temperature is 57.9 degrees. That makes a mean monthly temperature of 76.2 degrees—4.8 degrees above normal figure for the 31 days.

Precipitation during July was .04 of an inch, .31 below normal. Total precipitation for the month was aided Sunday when .01 of an inch fell in Twin Falls. There have been two Julys since 1945 with only a trace of precipitation, 1953 and 1959.

The hottest day was 104 on July 19 and the lowest was 50 degrees on July 7 and 12.

The bureau reported that since 1945 only three Julys have been normal or below for temperatures. Those years were 1948, 1949 and 1955. All other Julys have been normal or above.

Last month 26 consecutive days were 90 degrees or above for the day's maximum temperatures. That sustained heat spell was recorded from July 5 through July 30.

The normal monthly mean temperature for July, according to the entomology bureau, is 71.4.

During July there were 16 clear days; 13 partly cloudy days and two cloudy days. The wind prevailed from the west.

Navy Boosts Fleet Power With Carrier

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The navy today announced a major reinforcement of the sixth fleet with the assignment of a third attack carrier to the force regularly operating in the Mediterranean.

Officials speculated this could be a move to bolster U.S. striking power in the European area until the navy has enough Polaris-launching atomic submarines in striking range of the northcentral key areas of the Soviet Union.

The navy said that the seventh fleet in the Pacific, which regularly varies from two to three carriers, will hereafter be maintained at the three-carrier level.

The increased striking strength resulting from the additional carrier deployment is "part of a continuing program to improve the military capabilities and posture of the United States," the navy said.

The reinforcement was recommended by the joint chiefs of staff.

Heavy Rains Curb Idaho's Fire Danger

By The Associated Press

Heavy rain fell over wide stretches of Idaho's timbered area today, curbing any immediate fire danger.

"This pretty well breaks the back of the fire season," said C. B. Beaty, fire dispatcher for the Payette national forest, at McCall.

He said the 14,500-acre Eckles Creek fire in the upper Hells canyon of the Snake river still was smoldering, but crews are being withdrawn. He said if the rain does not completely extinguish the blaze it will at least eliminate danger of its spreading.

In the Boise national forest, officials said all fires were believed out.

Rainfall in Boise amounted to 1.73 inches, including .79 in the early hours today. The total, weather bureau officials said, was more than the normal precipitation for all four summer months—June through September.

Forest officials said that even without any more rain the fire danger should be eliminated for at least two weeks. After that, if the

Cloudburst, Hail Hit Idaho Ranch

LAVA HOT SPRINGS, Aug. 1 (AP)—A cloudburst and severe hailstorm did an estimated $5,000 damage to farm equipment, buildings and crops at the Carl Monson ranch last evening.

Calvin Monson, son of the owner, said the hailstones were up to one inch in diameter. He said five acres of hay and five acres of grain were destroyed.

He also said a wall of water six feet high swept from a nearby canyon across the ranch, damaged the house and washed out a country road.

There were other reports that water surged over highway 30N near Lava Hot Springs, causing some traffic delay, and there was water on other main highways in the vicinity of McCammon

Paper Claims Red Germans Set to Attack

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—The West Berlin newspaper "Telegraf" reported yesterday there were strong indications the East German communists plan to move against West Berlin and seize it before the United States presidential election.

The newspaper said it received reliable reports that East German communist Leader Walter Ulbricht has organized storm troopers for an assault.

The newspaper's deputy chief editor, Rudolf Haetzel, said it was possible the communists were spreading reports of a planned action as part of the war of nerves against the city, but he did not think this was so.

The East Germans have stepped up their propaganda and harassment campaigns against the city recently, charging it is manufacturing supplies for the West German army.

They used this as an excuse to confiscate two trailer trucks bound from West Berlin to West Germany last month.

Western diplomats speculated that the East Germans may have to start some diversionary action soon to take their people's minds off a serious food shortage.

Williams Urges Pay Reappraisal

BOISE, Aug. 1 (AP)—State Auditor Joe R. Williams called today for reappraisal of the salaries paid to all state officials—both elective and appointive.

Williams, who said he will suggest a revision of the pay scales to the Democratic party's platform committee at Lewiston this week-end, said he feels the present ones are "out of proportion."

"I think the office of governor, for example, is way underpaid," Williams said, stressing he was not speaking of any personalities. "It presently is $12,500 a year. It should be double that."

He proposed a definite revision of the salary scales throughout Idaho's state government to make the pay, he said, commensurate with the job.

Labor Backs Demo, Union Leader Says

HYANNIS PORT, Mass., Aug. 1 (AP)—David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers union, told Sen. John F. Kennedy today he is sure organized labor will support the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in the November election.

McDonald, after a visit with Kennedy at the senator's summer home, told a news conference he believes labor will support Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Kennedy's choice for vice president, as strongly as it supports Kennedy.

Steel Slump Discussed

He parried questions about reported grumbling by labor union members against Johnson as a running mate for Kennedy, the Democratic nominee for president.

Kennedy, standing beside McDonald on a lawn through the news conference, said he had invited the union leader here to discuss the slump in steel production and its effects on workers as well as on industry.

McDonald said he had urged Kennedy to implement the Full Employment act, a law passed in 1946 which directs the government to take appropriate steps, particularly in times of adversity to assure full employment.

100,000 Unemployed

He estimated 100,000 of his union members are unemployed and 300,000 are working less than a 40-hour week.

Kennedy was asked what special action congress might take at the session opening next Monday to help the steel industry and others for which it is bellwether.

Kennedy said the enactment of housing legislation and a school construction aid bill would be helpful and that so would easing of interest rates and "tight money policy."

Kennedy, 5 State Chiefs Blast Nixon

HYANNIS PORT, Mass., Aug. 1 (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today released a statement signed by five Democratic midwestern governors and three Democratic senators accusing Vice President Richard M. Nixon of a "lack of basic conviction" on farm aid and other issues.

The statement was signed by Gov. Herschel C. Loveless, Iowa; George Docking, Kansas, Ralph Herseth, South Dakota; Gaylord A. Nelson, Wisconsin, and Orville L. Freeman, Minnesota, and Sens. Quentin Burdick, North Dakota; William Proxmire, Wisconsin, and Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota.

The statement likened Nixon's break with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to "a political captain leaving the sinking ship."

"Vice President Nixon—a member of the Eisenhower administration team for the past 7½ years—in the short span of 38 hours since his nomination has repudiated two key parts of that administration's program," the statement said.

"This is just the first evidence of his lack of basic conviction on the issues to which Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller alluded so eloquently before the midnight confrontation in New York."

The reference was to a midnight conference between Nixon and Rockefeller at which they

Weather Forces West Coast to Bypass Hailey on First of New Area Flights

The first of two new West Coast airlines flights from Boise to Salt Lake City, connecting with Twin Falls and Hailey airports, left Boise at 7:15 a.m. Monday but bypassed Hailey because of bad weather.

The DC-3 plane was scheduled to land at Hailey airport at 8 a.m. and was due in Twin Falls at 8:29 a.m., according to West Coast officials. Because of the change in plans, it arrived in Twin Falls at 8 a.m. and continued on to Salt Lake City.

The afternoon flight is scheduled to arrive in Twin Falls at 3:41 p.m. Monday, and will arrive in Hailey at 4:14 p.m., weather permitting, officials reported.

Previously there were no flights between Twin Falls and Hailey. West Coast plans to maintain year-around flights. The runway at Hailey will be cleared during the winter.

The morning flights will begin at Boise and go to Hailey, Twin Falls and Salt Lake City daily, and the afternoon flight will return on the same route.

At 3:41 p.m. Monday 500 copies of Monday's final edition of the Times-News were slated to be flown to Hailey in the inaugural flight of West Coast airlines flights into the Hailey-Ketchum-Sun Valley area.

The first plane was scheduled to land at the Hailey airport at 8 a.m. Monday, but it continued to Twin Falls because of bad weather.

A sticker was put onto each of the 500 copies, which said it had been flown by the first flight.

Usually residents of the Hailey-Ketchum-Sun Valley area receive the early mail edition of the Times-News which is mailed from Shoshone.

Dozens of Monday's paper scheduled to be flown were slated for sale by Times-News dealers. They include the Hiawatha hotel, Ankeny drugstore and Broyles pharmacy, all Hailey; Ketchum drugstore and Sun Valley Shopping Center, both Ketchum, and the Sun Valley drugstore at Challenger inn and at the newsstand in Sun Valley lodge.

Trueblood and his passenger, Mike Healey, 17, Buhl, crawled out of the wreckage with only minor abrasions, reports State Patrolman Richard Burns, who investigated the accident. Damages were set at $1,200 to the car, $75 to the telephone pole, and $20 to the mailbox, which is owned by Eugene Christofferson. Buhl city police also investigated.

Carol A. Snyder, 18, Filer, was cited by State Patrolman John Wray at 10 a.m. Sunday for failing to yield the right of way after she was involved in an accident at the intersection of a county road and highway 93 about six miles south of Twin Falls.

Her 1951 Hudson collided broadside with a 1958 Nash driven by William Gregory, 33, route 2, Twin Falls, causing about $450 damage to the left front end of the Nash.

Gregory displayed "fine defensive driving," according to Patrolman Wray. The Gregory car had eight passengers, none of whom was injured.

The Snyder car, estimated to have been going five miles an hour at the time of the collision struck the Gregory car as it drove north on 93 at 35 miles an hour, Wray said she pulled away from a stop sign into the lane occupied by the Gregory car. Her Hudson had about $250 damage and was listed as a total wreck.

Anderson was involved in a two-car accident at 7:15 a. m. Monday a mile south and one-half mile west of Burley at a county intersection.

The 1947 Buick driven by Anderson collided with the left side of a 1950 Studebaker driven by Jerry Williams, 52, Burley. Neither driver was injured. The front of the Anderson car was demolished.

Jerry Williams was cited by Cassia Sheriff LePage Layton for having no driver's license and no automobile license. When Williams appeared before Judge Carter Monday morning, he said he had purchased the Studebaker at 10:10 p. m. Saturday. Upon checking with city officials, he had been instructed to purchase his automobile license Monday morning when the office opened. Williams was on his way to buy the car license at the time of the accident. Judge Carter fined him $5 for having no driver's license and instructed him to get a driver's license and car license.

Edward O. Dayley, 19, Burley, was fined $17 and costs by Burley Justice of the Peace Alfred Crane Monday morning for speeding 77 miles per hour in a 60-mile zone. He was cited by State Patrolman M. J. Snyder.

Seedall's driver's license had been suspended earlier for reckless driving in Pocatello.

He was cited by State Patrolman M. J. Snyder.

Seedall also was arraigned before Cassia county Probate Judge Vern Carter Friday afternoon on charges filed by the bureau of land management for discarding lighted material on the Snake river forest protective district near Idahome July 18. Car Door Opened To Cause Mishap

A car door opened into a traffic lane in the 600 block of Main avenue north causing a minor collision between two cars about 5:25 p. m. Sunday.

A 1949 Nash operated by Carroll A. Jennings, 33, 260 Madrona street, was parked when Jennings opened the door on the driver's side to leave the car. Bobby L. Gillespie, 17, 353 Third avenue north, was driving a 1953 Ford and saw the open door too late to stop.

Damage to the Jennings car door amounted to about $65 and about $40 to the right front end of the Gillespie car.

No citations were issued.

Dampened

HAILEY, Aug. 1—Hailey had its first rain Monday morning since May 7.

Approximately .48 of an inch of rain fell, state Theron Larson of the Sawtooth national forest.

The rain brought the burning index, which had been up to 80, down to 52. However, Larson commented, if there is no more rain, the low index would not last more than two days.

Heavy Rains Curb Idaho's Fire Danger

weather is hot, the condition could again become serious.

The rain ended the most disastrous forest fire period in Idaho in 50 years. Not since 1910—when a million acres of forest land burned and 86 persons died—has the damage from fire been so extensive.

This year's fires—at least 500 in a month—burned an estimated 175,000 acres of range and timberland. The bureau of land management said it had 105,000 acres blackened. The remainder of the area was forest land.

Three men were killed in the crash of an airplane dropping chemical fire retardant.

Sheriff Says Trip Cleared Murder Case

he was broke upon arriving in Boise from California last summer. Earlier the day of the killing, Spencer said he put a gun in his belt and went into a Boise store with the intention of holding it up.

However, too many people kept coming into the store and he figured the holdup would be too risky. So he and Miss Hampton left Boise and started east.

Later the two pulled up behind the red and gray sportscar driven by Dr Hunt. After honking at him to pull over to the side of the road, Spencer asked Dr. Hunt the direction to a town, but pretending not to hear the answer hollered out by the plant pathologist, Spencer and Miss Hampton got out of the car in which they were riding.

One of the three implicated in the slaying pulled a gun on the doctor and forced him to move to the passenger's side in the sportscar. Then Dr. Hunt's car was driven to what Miss Hampton described as a desert area. One of the suspects hit the pathologist on the head with a wrench found in Dr. Hunt's car. That knocked him unconscious.

Miss Hampton said then Dr. Hunt was driven to another area not far away, because she didn't want to see the killing. She said she didn't see the shooting.

The suspects told Sheriff Anderson they planned to take the small sportscar, but didn't know how to put it into reverse, so they left it near the scene. They tried to bury the body, but the ground was too hard to dig with a board they had picked up.

So they left Dr. Hunt in his car, deciding to cash the American Express Travelers cheques, taken from Dr. Hunt before word of the murder was circulated. The cheques were in $20 denominations, Nos. 47-437-399 to 47-437-408.

From the Gooding area, the couple, posing as man and wife, left for Pacific Beach, Calif., where Spencer was employed as a window washer. Dr. Hunt's clothing was thrown out on an Indian reservation in California.

The couple pawned the doctor's photograph equipment in California.

According to Sheriff Anderson, Spencer and Miss Hampton denied knowledge of other unsolved murders in southern Idaho.

Miss Hampton told Sheriff Anderson she and Spencer had come to Idaho with the deliberate purpose of robbing and killing people.

His investigation of Dr. Hunt's murder will continue, he said.

agreed on provisions of the Republican platform.

The statement from the mid-Westerners charged that Nixon up to now has "wholeheartedly subscribed" to Benson's farm policies but in a sudden switch has repudiated him.

"Those in the farm belt are acutely aware of the failures of the Republican policy on agriculture, a policy to which Vice President Nixon has wholeheartedly subscribed until yesterday," the statement said.

It quoted Nixon as having said in a 1954 speech in Des Moines, Ia., that history would record Benson as "one of the best secretaries of agriculture in our history" and as a friend of the farmer.

It said he also spoke out in support and praise of Benson in Rapid City, S. D., in 1956, and quoted Benson himself as claiming in 1957 that he had "every evidence of the support of the vice president."

The statement was released through Kennedy's press office.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, in reply to a question, said the statement was drafted "by people connected with the Kennedy campaign," and then submitted to the five governors and three senators for their approval and signatures.

Salinger said Kennedy had invited Governor Loveless to come here Thursday for talks on farm policy.

Kennedy declined to comment on reports Loveless might become secretary of agriculture if Kennedy is elected president.

No Sugar Day Promotion for T. F. Planned

Chamber of Commerce division members decided not to sponsor the sugar days promotion as a group because of the lack of interested merchants, at a Monday noon luncheon at the Rogerson hotel State room.

It was reported arrangements are complete for the back-to-school parade, planned for Aug. 20, except for the collection of money. Ed Bossard is chairman of the project.

S. L. Crowley discussed the idea of closing about four blocks of Main avenue and turning it into a "glorified shopping center" complete with sidewalks, grass, restrooms, refreshment stands, benches, and so forth. He read an article and showed illustrations of a "Main street" before and after converting to the shopping center type. He stressed parking is becoming a problem in Twin Falls, and it will get worse if something isn't done about it.

Crowley pointed out statistics showed a store in Chicago increased business 50 per cent after the town converted to the new system. Shoppers would park their cars in large parking lots and do their shopping on Main avenue by foot. A study will be made to find opinions of other merchants.

TROY NATIONAL LAUNDRY & CLEANERS

Alert Citizen Leads FBI to Wanted Man

OMAHA, Nebr., Aug. 1 (AP) — A small town merchant's interest in FBI "wanted circulars" led to the jailing of one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals, an escaped murderer who lived quietly as a farm laborer.

Smith Gerald Hudson, 32, a convicted Pennsylvania killer, was brought to Omaha last night and jailed to await arrival of Pennsylvania authorities.

Hearing Waived

Hudson was arrested early yesterday in the small home he occupied on the Carl Huefle farm near Cozad, Nebr. Taken before a U. S. commissioner, he waived preliminary hearing and was held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Hudson, who used an alias of Gerald Bennett, refused at first to make a statement. Later he told of falling in love and embracing Christ "for the first time in my life."

Glendon Maline, operator of a chain store at Cozad, looked over some FBI circulars last week and spotted a picture that looked familiar. He thought it was Bennett, with whom he did business, and it was.

Penitentiary Escaped

Hudson escaped from the Pennsylvania state penitentiary at Bellefonte Aug. 7, 1957, after 4 had served six years of a 10 to 20 year term and had only four to go.

"All the time I never had a card or letter or visit from my sisters and brothers. I just got disgusted and walked away."

He was sent to prison for the 1951 shotgun murder of an acquaintance, John Ferguson, in Fayette county, Pa. The FBI said Hudson started his career with a series of auto thefts at the age of 16 and was free on bond on a charge of involuntary manslaughter when Ferguson was killed.

Matched

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Aug. 1 (AP)—Lists of "last" hikers have been toted up and matched against lists of "found" hikers and sheriff's deputies are happy to report they match today.

It started Thursday when two counselors and 12 boys were reported missing from their Arrowhead Villiats camp in the mountains. They were all found that night, but a new count at the camp showed a counselor and boy still were missing Friday morning.

A search party was formed, found the missing two hikers and reported back to camp—six searchers short.

More than 50 deputies, forest service reserves and others went into the mountains Saturday and found the missing six—to make the last found columns come out even.

Five Persons Dead in East Auto Mishap

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 1 (UPI)—Five persons were killed early today and a sixth was critically injured when their car slammed into a bridge abutment on a highway near here.

On the rear bumper of the 1957 Ford auto were two tape signs. One read "God bless this car" and the other "good-bye cruel world."

State police said the victims were migrant farm workers from Lake Wales, Fla.

Four of the dead were tentatively identified as Nathan Caldwell, Jesse Louis Howard, Wilbur Diamond and William Thomas Harrington.

The car, bearing Florida license plates, was severely damaged, and police were uncertain which direction it was traveling when the accident occurred.

Four of the six Negro persons in the car were thrown clear in the wreck, and two were pinned inside the crumpled auto.

The survivor, who was thrown from the car, was in critical condition at Horton Memorial hospital in Middletown.

Board Has More Time for Brief

The board of examiners refused to approve the claim, for work done for the state highway department by the Aero Service corporation, Salt Lake City, and the firm filed suit in the supreme court.

The modifications at Lockheed's plant here will cost almost 25 million dollars, a company spokesman told UPI. Lockheed Vice President M. C. Haddon said the firm will "assume a major share of specific improvement costs."

All Planes Due Repair

Haddon said the first improved Electra will be ready for federal [illegible] early [illegible] and expected by Nov. 1. All the big planes operated by 13 airlines will be modified to be fixed by the middle of next year.

In announcing the modification program last night, Haddon said the changes also would make other structural changes designed to make the Electra the strongest aircraft of its type in service.

The aircraft have been flying at reduced speeds since a Northwest Electra crashed near Tell City, Ind., March 17 killing all 63 aboard. Subsequent investigation disclosed a structural weakness that could cause a wing to fail under freakish circumstances.

Mounts Are Weak

The fatal "bug" that doomed the Northwest plane, as well as a Braniff Electra with 34 aboard near Buffalo, Tex., last September, was a weakness in the mounts that held the outboard engines in their nacelles. Investigation disclosed that a hard landing or extreme turbulence could damage these mounts sufficiently to cause the engine to shift its position.

At a certain speed, vibration created a further strain on the mounts and a chain reaction began to transmit the engine movements to the wing. The culmination of this reaction was a flutter so violent the wing separated from the fuselage.

Lockheed has reached agreement on "who pays for what" with 10 of the 13 airlines operating the big planes. Negotiations still are in progress with Western, National and Qantas, the latter an Australian carrier.

NAME, PLEASE?

You might get the impression these days that to be a "liberal" is all the rage, and that to be a "conservative" is to be obsolete. Few politicians would willingly put on the "conservative" tag, even though they may think and vote conservatively, because of the poor "image" it might create in the voter's mind.

It is a surprise, therefore, to run across a Gallup Poll in which voters were asked would they consider themselves "liberals" or "conservatives" if we had parties by those names instead of the familiar Republicans and Democrats.

Well, 56 per cent of the voters simply didn't know what a liberal or conservative was, and were excused from further quizzing. (Where have they been?)

The brighter 44 per cent were tabulated. Of these, 51 per cent said they were "conservatives," and 49 per cent "liberals." The majority simply didn't worry about what kind of "image" this gave them.

There was more to the Gallup report, because it broke down the results geographically. Only in the Northeast did the liberals outnumber the conservatives, 58 per cent to 42.

It might seem odd that the oldest and economically most mature section of the country should be unique in this respect.

The booming South was "conservative," 55 per cent to 45 per cent. The growing Midwest was 58 per cent conservative. And the rapidly expanding Far West was evenly divided.

This pretty well disposes of the notion that the liberals are found among the active, up-to-the minute citizens and that the conservatives are the mossbacks.

Why haven't these figures been reflected lately in the elections? Perhaps it is because both parties have overestimated the popularity of the liberal label and too often the choice has been between a liberal Republican and a liberal Democrat, in which case the voters had to make up their minds on the basis of other factors.

Perhaps the signs to be discerned in this poll will encourage more conservatives to come out into the open and also give them a better chance of selection when the parties are picking tickets that "can win."

THE FIVE PERCENTERS

At a moment when frenzied orations are urging that the government "stimulate" the economy to an annual growth rate of five per cent, the statistics on 1959 finally have come out. The gross national product went up about seven per cent last year, it turns out.

Undoubtedly this rate, two per cent higher than those "growthmanship" demands, could have been higher. In fact, it certainly would have been higher except for the steel strike. In any case, this husky growth occurred without the programs some advocate to produce a lesser rate of growth than that which actually occurred. It must be a blow to some politicians to find that their promises already are being exceeded before they even get into office.

However, it would be foolish to expect that a seven per cent figure could be maintained year after year, and just as foolish to expect such steady performance at a five per cent figure. There are too many things that can't be planned.

The figure will be higher, we can be sure, in years when there is no strike in basic industry, a good harvest, a confidence among companies and investors which leads to expansion. It will be pushed up as newer industries, such as air conditioning and electronics hit their full stride.

The figure will go lower in years when strikes prevent production, when weather spoils the crops, when companies and investors see little attraction in expanding.

Government spending programs can't, in themselves, improve the the real GNP. To spend, the government must take the money from some taxpayer and prevent him from spending. It's the same dollar.

But governmental action to eliminate labor monopolies which tie up whole industries would prevent growth-sapping strikes. Reform of the tax rate structure which now reduces investment would help. As yet, government can't help the crop weather.

Unhappily, those who shout most for growth seem to understand least the factors which create growth. They advocate increased labor monopoly through repeal of safeguards and greater public spending at the expense of our citizens.

ABSENTEE INFECTIONS

If you are a boss, and if you have a problem of absenteeism among your employes, modern medicine may have a word for you.

While the common cold, headaches and stomach upsets are frequent complaints among sick workers, the real reason may be due to a sick boss, says the American Psychiatric association.

That is, the colds, headaches, etc., are real enough but the underlying reason is often emotional tension caused by managerial mismanagement or bad supervision. A hostile, anxious or irresponsible supervisor can pass these feelings along to his subordinates, "infecting" the whole organization and resulting in absenteeism and on-the-job accidents.

So relax, boss. It's your business.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

(During Ray Tucker's vacation, his daily column will be written by distinguished editors on the political situation in key states. This is the first of a two-part series discussing the political climate in Louisiana in this election year.)

By HERBERT BRUCKER
Editor
Hartford, Conn., Courant

HARTFORD, Conn.—Connecticut has never produced a president. And with only eight electoral votes, it is not likely that it ever will. But never before has a state been as close to the presidential camps of both parties as is Connecticut at the present moment.

Meade Alcorn, former Republican national chairman, is one of the inner circle around Vice President Nixon. As for the Democratic political firm of Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff and State Chairman John M. Bailey, they were four years ahead of the rest of their party in being for John F. Kennedy ever since the 1956 convention.

How were they able to see ahead more clearly than the rest of the party? They had the breaks of course, as one must have to hit the jackpot in politics. But it wasn't as simple as that. Unlike many in politics, these two tend to follow their heads instead of their prejudices.

MORE IMAGINATION THAN MOST—Not that they have always seen eye to eye. When Abe Ribicoff was on the way up from lawyer and minor judge to congress and his present eminence as a governor who has won national attention, John M. Bailey wasn't for him. Ribicoff was too independent—or too much out for himself rather than the party, as some in it said. Either way John Bailey knew a winner when he saw one, and he likes winners.

One reason the two hitched their wagon to the Kennedy star four years ago is that they have a bit more imagination than most politicians. They could see things in the then 39-year-old senator others did not. Go visit Ribicoff now, in that spacious gov*ernor's office on the second floor of* Connecticut's spectacular capitol, a monument of what might be called General Grant gothic. The governor is still a little groggy from Los Angeles. Gray is tinging his jet black hair. But as he leans back in the dark blue leather chair with the gold state seal behind his head, his eyes light up.

"I knew the attributes of Jack Kennedy back in 1949 when we were in congress together," he says. "I knew he had something, though everyone else was skeptical, if they didn't think I was crazy."

NEW LEADERSHIP EMERGES—Another Ribicoff-Bailey quality is that they pride themselves on playing both sides of the street a little less than most in politics. They did not play it cosy, dropping Kennedy after his brief moment in the sun for the vice presidential spot in 1956, to wait and see what happened.

Finally, they sensed then what everybody has become aware of this year—that the old leaders who came out of World war II would leave the stage, that a new and younger generation would take over, and that one of the great swings in American life lay ahead.

There was of course the great obstacle: No Roman Catholic had ever been elected president. And there were those who thought, especially because of Al Smith's failure in 1928, that none ever could be. But Ribicoff says he discounted that from the beginning. Back in 1954 he had become, by the skin of his teeth, the first Jew to be Connecticut's governor. He had made a speech in that campaign on his favorite theme—that the American people are big enough to make real the American dream that anybody can be anything, even governor or president.

FAITH IN THE AMERICAN ELECTORATE—"We had gone through the same crucible in 1954 that Jack Kennedy is going through now," he says. "There hasn't been a question raised about his chances as a Catholic now that wasn't raised about me as a Jew then. But I had faith in the American people then, and I have now. I knew from personal experience that Jack's problem was not insurmountable."

Well then, what about this story you hear, even from some Democrats, that Kennedy has no convictions, that he is just a big IBM machine? He has a powerhouse of a political organization, the story runs, but it works because he just follows the polls, and calculates all the angles in advance. Surely that doesn't mean he'd make a president, the kind of man who in the loneliness of a 2 a.m. decision would say, "I don't care where the votes are. This is what is right."

Not so, according to Governor Ribicoff:

"People who say that just haven't read his speeches over the last four years," he says. "Those speeches haven't been reported. People were interested in Jack's youth, his mop of hair, his religion, his wife, father, family—in everything but what he stood for."

A DUTY TO SEE, TO EXPLAIN, TO LEAD—"If you read those speeches—if you read the ones he is going to make—you will find that he does have convictions. He doesn't always take the popular side —far from it. He realizes that great challenges are facing the American people. He knows it is his duty to see, to explain, to lead.

"He will not hesitate to make the hard decisions. And the American people will follow him. They will follow any leader, if only he is honest with them, tells them the hard things they may have to know and do, and explains why."

Furthermore, adds the governor with conviction, "When Jack is elected (he doesn't say if), you will *find that irrespective of expediency, he will sur*round himself with men of stature and of character the like of which this country has rarely seen."

All in all, a pretty fired-up estimate of Candidate Kennedy. It is the kind you are used to from a partisan. But maybe it should not be discounted quite as much as usual. Abe Ribicoff has talked this way before when the practical men didn't believe him, and it has paid off at the polls.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

BUT NOT SURPRISING

Some statistics supplied by Idaho's Senator Henry Dworshak are interesting—but not surprising.

He reports that civilian employes of the civilian and military agencies of the federal government's executive department now number some 2,393,400—or did at the last count—and that's nearly double what they did 20 years ago. About 6000 of them are in Idaho.

It's the senator's idea that the elimination of inefficient help and extra, unnecessary personnel might provide the answer to the federal pay problems.

And so it might; but there is to be considered, too, the rapid multiplication of all sorts of new federal agencies called into being as bloated central government takes on new functions and responsibilities, all calling for the employment of more people.

There's a "law" relating to expanding bureaucracy and its operations, which has been cited by a British humorist who was lately a guest in Boise. It's an invariable rule that is the antithesis of economy and efficiency.

And though, as the senator does, we may protest against it, it's something to be recognized as a factor that's inseparably involved in our demands upon government to do more things for us.—Boise Statesman.

CRUSADER FOR CONSERVATION

Future generations of Americans will have reason to be grateful to Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, who has died in Burlington, N. C., at the age of 79. Dr. Bennett was sometimes called the father of soil conservation in this country, and his labors over a period of more than 50 years testify that some such title was richly deserved. He began his work with the department of agriculture in 1903, and was the first chief of the United States soil conservation service, an agency established largely through his efforts. In addition to his work in the United States, he advised many foreign governments on methods of preventing erosion and revitalizing soils. He wrote widely and lent the prestige of his name to many allied causes. Dr. Bennett was a crusader whose enthusiasm will be remembered as an integral part of a fruitful life.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

Westbrook Pegler

CHICAGO — The great spon*taneous demonstration* for Adlai Stevenson at the Democratic convention was paid for by Jimmy Hoffa and directed by Dore Scha*ry, the motion* picture genius.

Schary first came to my knowledge as a *leader of resis*tance against the house committee on un-American activities just after the second war. He opposed red-baiting.

When he returned to Los Angeles after the fierce clamor of Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall, Danny Kaye and other such, he had displaced at MGM James K. McGuinness, a combat soldier of the first war, a patriot and a devoted enemy of Moscow and its minions and their works.

Not long afterward in New York McGuinness insisted on singing 'Nearer My God to Thee' repeatedly at a party, then went to bed and died. All his years of work and of brave defiance of reds had been nullified. He was laid to rest close by Jimmy Walker, Anne O'Hare McCormick, numerous Foleys, McGortys and Dooleys, and, by sweetly wan coincidence, near his friend, Anna Held. May they all rest in peace.

Schary, like Mrs. Roosevelt, believed that the danger of communism was exaggerated. Harry Truman called this nonsense a red herring. President Eisenhower only belatedly has shrunk away from a somewhat similar idea.

Mrs. Roosevelt and ex-governor, ex-senator, Herbert Lehman, New York, were the bosses of the Stevenson adherence in Los Angeles. Schary was one of the new dignitaries of the Hollywood cult who did not throw in with Jack Kennedy's mischievous innocents under Frank Sinatra commonly known as the rat pack.

This seems not to be a dishonorable style in the present state of morals, ethics and politics. It is now established usage. No political candidate ever before enjoyed the devotion of any group called rats. Bull Moose, yes. But never rats.

The demonstration for Stevenson was an astounding feat. Mussolini, Hitler and communist elements in New York, Tokyo and San Francisco have resorted to the spontaneous demonstration, but apparently they all learned methods and tricks from the American political conventions. Obviously someone with a big treasury paid for the Stevenson demonstration, which exploded with the blast of a well-wrought theatrical mob scene.

On the authority of Capt. Dan Gilbert, late of the Chicago cops, the nemesis of Willie Bioff, George Scalise and many other such, the angel of the show was Jimmy Hoffa, the boss of the Teamsters union. Captain Gilbert is a confidant of George Meany, Walter Reuther and all such. He was in Los Angeles, running with the Meany-Reuther element and therefore with the Kennedys.

And he says—

"Schary was up in the balcony. They had guys in sections all over the place to catch his signals and run the show. He sat down by Mrs. Roosevelt and put his legs over the rail of a front box. If he had stood up he would have been hard to pick out, like 10,000 other guys standing up. But sitting down, waving his legs in a front box, he stood out.

"Mrs. Roosevelt was very good. She is an old campaigner and she knows how to make a bashful entrance and wave to the crowd and swipe a scene like she swiped that one from Governor Collins so he interrupted himself and called her the first lady of the world.

"I know you do not like her, but you have got to give her credit. First she sat down in one place upsetting the decorum, like, and when the Stevenson show was ready to start she got up and moved. The TV followed her.

"Schary sat down about ... seats away from her. That ... helped to spot Schary for the guys planted in all the various sections. Suddenly, all over the balcony, the signs came out and they raised hell.

"First, Schary gave his section guys the 'up' sign with the hand, and the mob came up yelling. They had a time limit and he was obeying the rules.

"Pretty soon, he gave them the 'down' signal. Down they ... Then the 'out' and the guys in the sections passed the ... and they all went out. Schary played that mob like Toscanini. The guy was great.

"My guys in the union ... told me this Stevenson show must have cost Hoffa from $50,000 to $100,000. They got those guys from the colleges around Los Angeles and all kinds of political clubs and the casting bureaus and model agencies. It was a swell production.

"You remember in 1944 all those reds were in the Chicago stadium for Wallace and Mrs. Roosevelt was trying to shove him over. Well, we got a recess and about 5,000 to 6,000 of our workers from the 27th ward moved in and took up all the delegates' seats and thousands of gallery seats."

Officials Not Worried by Sale of Gold

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 — Government officials insisted today that the recent spurt in sales of treasury gold to foreign governments does not indicate any lack of confidence in the dollar.

They said at least part of the 158 million dollars in gold sold in the last three weeks could be traced to payments to the International Monetary fund and Inter-American Development bank.

Some Buy U.S. Gold

Several governments have made payments to these institutions in recent weeks. To keep up their own gold stocks, some countries including Spain, bought U.S. gold with the dollars they had on hand.

Lack of concern about the gold sales was expressed by a high treasury official and a federal reserve board staff aide.

A treasury policy maker who keeps in close touch with monetary developments said "there is nothing to indicate any change in basic confidence" in the dollar.

Funds Shifted

He acknowledged, that some investors might have contributed to the gold outflow by shifting funds from New York to Europe, where interest rates are higher. The official said such swings have been in the hundreds of millions of dollars, a level the treasury considers safe.

In the week that ended last Wednesday U.S. gold sales totaled 70 million dollars, the largest one-week decline in the American gold stock since early September, 1959. The new total of 19.16 billion dollars of gold reserves was the lowest in 20 years.

The figures could be read several ways. One reading showed that the 158 million dollars of gold sales in the past three weeks was more than half the 292 million dollars of sales since the beginning of the year.

Contrast Said Favorable

But the 292 million dollars contrasted sharply—and favorably, from the administration's point of view—with the 554 million dollars of gold sales in the like period of 1959.

Officials said a major reason for the decline in gold sales between 1960 and 1959 was the improvement this year in the U.S. balance of international payments.

The treasury refused to identify all the countries that have been buying U.S. gold in recent weeks. The department steadfastly withholds such information until about three months after the end of each quarter of the year.

Cow Injured in Mishap at Declo

BURLEY, Aug. 1—A 1956 Chevrolet driven by Winfield Hurst, 63, Declo, struck a Holstein cow in front of the A. L. Turner home, one-half mile west of Declo on a county road. The accident occurred at 8:40 p. m. Friday.

The cow belonged to Earl Hurst, son of the driver. The Hurst dogs had chased the cow into the path of the Chevrolet. The cow was injured seriously and was valued at $200.

Damages to the car were $250. Cassia County Sheriff LePage Layton investigated the accident. No one in the car was injured.

Johnson Readies Wednesday Talk

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 1 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas, the Democratic party's vice presidential candidate, conferred here with aides and party leaders today and prepared for a Wednesday speech.

He said on arrival here last night from Monticello, Ia., that he would speak Wednesday in Johnson City, Tex., to about 300 district and county campaign workers from over the state.

The Johnson City speech was looked upon by observers as the first Johnson move in an attempt to wrap up the Texas electoral votes for the Democrats in November.

Jim Woody, 30, and brother, Sam Woody, 18, both Gallup, N.M., each were fined $10 by Judge Annest for intoxication. All were cited by Burley police officers.

Pleas of Wife To President Help Airman

DENVER, Aug. 1 (UPI)—Basic Airman Norman Steed was back on duty today, with a red face and a big smile.

He spent the week-end with his young wife, Betty, who went over his officers' heads—to President Eisenhower himself—to wangle permission for her husband to live off the base.

The 17-year-old Mrs. Steed confronted the President Friday with a tearful request that Norman, 20, be allowed to live off the base with her. The President, visiting his mother-in-law in Denver, obliged, and Steed got away about three hours later.

Second Meet Prevented

The Steeds journeyed to Buckley field to see the President and first lady leave town, hoping to get a chance to thank Eisenhower, but air policemen prevented them from doing so.

Betty insisted her plea to the President was a spur of the moment idea. She just walked up to him and started talking—and crying—while his secret service guards stood by, befuddled.

Mrs. Steed's problems began two weeks ago when her husband was transferred from Lackland airbase Tex., to Lowry. She came to Denver last week, only to find Norman confined to the base, as is customary for new airmen.

Wife Is Lonely

They spent three or four hours together each evening, going to the service club or the base movie, but Betty still was mighty lonely in her little $40 a month flat, 3½ miles from Lowry.

Steed asked about getting off-base permission as soon as he arrived, but the request hadn't gone through. Only in special cases are basic airmen given such privileges.

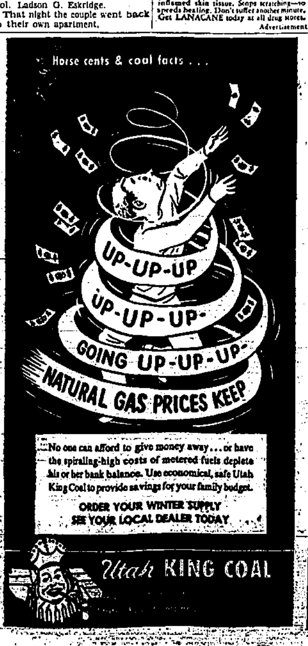

Before the air force could act, young Mrs. Steed took matters into her own hands. She was in front of the Brown Palace hotel when President Eisenhower walked out.

Walks Past Guards

"I just saw the crowd there, and he (the President) was shaking hands with some people next to the car," she explained. "So I went 'round back and just walked through the guards."

An understanding Ike directed his aides to help the couple, and the same afternoon Mrs. Steed was taken out to Lowry and introduced to the base commander, Col. Ladson G. Eskridge.

That night the couple went back to their own apartment.

New Way of Distributing Foods Noted

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (UPI)—The supermarket's long reign as the nation's top food retailer is being challenged by newer and more radical methods of merchandising.

The challenge comes from the "[illegible] clubs," a group of direct-[illegible] companies which virtually eliminate the need for over-[illegible] buying by dealing directly with the housewife.

[illegible] supermarket is in [illegible] danger of having [illegible], according to Walter [illegible] manager of Sea[illegible] Industries corporation, Franklin Square, N. Y., the food club [illegible] has been plain up points over the years in what shapes up as a potent challenge to current methods of food merchandising.

Industry Grows Fast

The industry, Blazer pointed out, has grown from just a few food plan companies in 1950 to nearly 1,000 [illegible]. Seacrest, one of the original 10 food planners still in existence, is also the first in its industry to go public.

Blazer said that nearly 12 million American families own freezers, and that some 23 per cent of these or 27 million families subscribe to the various home-freezer-food plans available.

The method of bulk selling today accounts for approximately 1.6 billion dollars a year of the nation's 73 billion dollars total food bill, he told United Press International.

Changes Noted

A recent issue of Printer's Ink magazine took notice of marketing changes occurring in the distribution of food and in the buying habits of the American housewife.

Many shoppers are discovering it takes more time and physical effort to shop for food than it did before the supermarket made its debut, the magazine pointed out. "They're tired of getting in and out of the car, loading children into it, driving to the store, parking and fighting for a food cart."

Blazer forecast that more and more buying will be done over the phone with women giving complete orders for foods and other staples.

Minuteman's Test Series Said Success

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (UPI) — The air force has successfully completed a series of rocket engine tests for its Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

It said in a statement last night that several solid-fuel rocket engines were "successsfully fired" in an altitude-simulating test cell at the Arnold Engineering center, Tullahoma, Tenn.

"The tests marked the first time in rocket history that engines of such size and power have been fired in an altitude-simulating test cell," the statement said.

Present target date for getting the nuclear-tipped missile into operation is the summer of 1962.

The air force said it was able to advance the original mid-1964 completion date because of success in the early research stages.

GOP'S Surplus Ideas Attacked

MONTICELLO, Ia., Aug. 1 (AP)—Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson says American farm surpluses are "a national disgrace" and proposals of Republicans to get rid of them won't help.

He pledged yesterday that if Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts, wins the presidential election next fall Democrats will push a "food for peace" plan of using American abundance to help other nations.

Johnson addressed a crowd of about 10,000 who turned out in dusty, 90-degree heat at the Jones county fairgrounds for a baked-beans-and-barbecue fund-raising luncheon for U.S. Rep. Leonard Wolf.

Beautiful Day for Boyle Is Spoiled by Starched Shirt

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 — Well, it happened again.

Yep, this morning.

The day started off swell. I hit the alarm clock—that mechanical bird in my boudoir—with the first flung shoe, and it fell over and said "gleep".

The shining sun heralded the advent of another morning of challenge.

Time has taught me the better part of valor is to take the challenge of each fresh today lying down as long as possible. I like to lie there and in my mind preview the potentialities of the day and its probable ambushes.

Well, this morning I couldn't foresee any possible ambushes. The weather was fine, the rent wasn't due, the cat wasn't scratching my daughter and I could hear my wife humming in the kitchen.

She still hums that old tune, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," and after 23 years of marriage I still wonder who she really has in mind.

Well, I got up and showered and the water was just the right temperature. And I shaved and the razor blade was sharp against the whiskers but didn't cut the skin.

The day looked better and better. I pulled on my socks and pants and shoes and started humming loud enough to be heard in the kitchen. "I'm getting sentimental over you-oo, too-oo."

Then it happened. Yes, it happened again.

I bent down and tugged a shirt from the drawer, removed it from its pristine cellophane and cardboard container, and started to don it.

Don it? It was like trying to buckle on armor plate. The shirt was stiff enough to stand on its tail. The cuffs as I fought my fists through them fought back with a white firmness.

I stalked into the kitchen and confronted my wife in majestic silence.

"What's the matter now—did you break a shoelace?" she asked.

"No. Starch!"

"Not starch!" Frances exclaimed. "Not starch again!"

"Yes, starch! Again . . . and again . . . and again!"

"We have a new laundryman," said my wife. "He didn't know you don't like starch in your shirts."

"That is the excuse my father used to get from my mother and I first heard it when I was 3 years old," I told her. "We have been fighting starch in our family for at least three generations."

"Oh, dry up, Rover," said my wife. "What will you have for breakfast?"

"Starch," I told her. "Scrambled starch, shirred starch, hard-boiled starch, soft-boiled starch, fried starch, baked starch.

"Call up the laundry and buy all the starch they have. Cook it and put it on the table. I want to get rid of it—once and forever.

"I'd rather eat starch than wear it."

Let's Face It, People of Twin Falls . . .

OUR SEWER SYSTEM IS A DISGRACE!

There is no point, at this late date, in trying to place the blame for our deplorably inadequate sewer system. But the ugly facts should shame us into the realization we cannot afford to delay any longer the construction of a modern sewage disposal plant. For a city the size of Twin Falls, blessed with all of its natural advantages, it's a disgrace to continue dumping raw sewage into Rock Creek.

It is doubly disgraceful to have the state health department prohibit the city of Twin Falls from making any further major connections to its present sewer system, and for the medical profession to be warning us repeatedly of the health hazard which exists because of this condition. One of this community's greatest assets—Magic Valley Memorial hospital—is seriously handicapped because of its location immediately adjacent to the Rock Creek "cesspool." Both from the standpoint of public health and residential and industrial development, our present sewer system stands in the way of any further progress.

Pride, if nothing else, should bring us to the conclusion that now's the time for immediate action. Surely, we should waste no more time over trivial matters in consideration of a problem so vitally important to Twin Falls' general welfare.

LET'S DO SOMETHING ABOUT THIS DISGRACEFUL SITUATION—LET'S VOTE FOR A MODERN SEWER SYSTEM TUESDAY!

Before raising any doubts which might stand in the way of this much needed improvement, let's all bear in mind that Twin Falls presently has an outstanding city commission which has weighed our need for sewer improvements from every angle.

Serving with the chairman of this commission, who is a certified public accountant, are a contractor, a realtor and other substantial businessmen—all capable and conscientiously interested in the city's general welfare.

With good logic, they have explained why the new sewage treatment plant would be located on Snake River instead of Rock Creek, which is one of several questions which have been raised. The larger flow of water in Snake River and the several hundred more feet of gravity fall are distinct advantages. Not only would a plant on Snake river eliminate the five existing pumping stations, but the cost would be only slightly more than half the expense of locating a plant on Rock Creek where another operational stage would be necessary.

The commissioners also have investigated the so-called "lagoon" system, only to find that the cost of acquiring the 200 acres of high priced land necessary for such a system would be prohibitive.

In deciding on the use of revenue bonds to underwrite the cost of the proposed improvement, the city commissioners feel that the monthly service charge method of retiring these bonds is the most equitable. All of those presently connected to the city's sewer system would pay $2.25 per month, and those in the five areas in Twin Falls not presently connected would pay an additional $2.00 per month for the privilege of connecting to the new improvements.

In every respect, the city commissioners are agreed unanimously that the plan being submitted to the voters next Tuesday will best meet our local needs for a modern sewer system. The cost of the project will be limited to the amount of the bond issue, $1,700,000, and the monthly service charges will be discontinued when the bonds are paid off.

If there are any questions remaining in anyone's mind, the city commissioners urge that City Chairman Vernon Riddle, Hank Wills, Bert Larson, or the Chamber of Commerce be contacted for a complete explanation.

The election Tuesday is one of the most important in the city's history. It's everyone's duty to help decide this critical issue.

Twin Falls is the only city over 10,000 population in the entire state of Idaho without a modern sewage disposal plant.

REMEMBER! It takes a two-thirds majority for the Bond Issue to carry! Be sure to vote!

Refugees of Trujillo Are At Embassy

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Aug. 1 (UPI)—An embattled group of political refugees guarded the doors and windows of the otherwise unprotected Mexican embassy today following an assault on the building by knife-wielding young hoodlums.

Up to late last night about 20 grim-faced teen-agers loitered outside the front door of the embassy, which they earlier had smashed, clashing with those inside, in a supposed attempt to gain asylum.

Some older men believed to be army intelligence agents, could be seen lurking in nearby streets batten of a single uniformed policeman.

Mexican Charge d'Affaires Jose Rojas conferred with U.S. charge d'affairs Henry Dearborn and other representatives of the foreign diplomatic community about the tense situation. He warned he may have to ask his own government in Mexico City for the immediate dispatch of a security force to take up posts on the embassy grounds.

The 33 political refugees already inside the building joined Rojas and his small staff in repulsing the attempted invasion of the embassy. Fernando Ibarra, an embassy secretary, incurred a minor knife wound in the short but frantic scuffle.

Mexican sources expressed the belief the would-be asylum-seekers actually were under hire. The regime of Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo has been increasingly reluctant to honor the practice of diplomatic immunity. At least 60 Trujillo opponents now are in asylum in various Latin embassies in the city.

Condition for Two Is Good After Wreck

Two of four youths injured in an auto collision Saturday night were in good condition Monday morning at Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

The two other youths, George A. Houser, 17, and his sister, Marilyn Houser, 16, were released from the hospital Sunday.

The four were admitted Saturday night after the crash eight-tenths of a mile south of Five Points east.

Still in the hospital Monday morning were Verna Skeen, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Skeen, 1984 Eleventh avenue east, and Roger Stevens, 15, son of Mrs. Ruth Stevens, 1303 Seventh avenue east.

Miss Houser is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Houser, 538 Adams street.

Houser was driving a 1958 Chevrolet stationwagon when it collided with a 1957 Nash Rambler driven by D. Brown, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Brown, route 2, Twin Falls.

No citations have been issued by investigating officers, Deputy Sheriff Clarence Yingst and two city police.

Officers Seek Six Men Who Flogged Man

HARPERSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 1 (UPI)—Police said today they are "pretty positive" about the identity of six white men who flogged a young Negro and expect arrests "at any time."

"It's just a matter of time," said police Chief Raymond H. Rogers. "We just haven't been able to find them yet. Apparently they've gone into hiding."

The men abducted and flogged Henry Lewis Jones, 19, Saturday night. Jones, father of two small children, was not badly hurt, but his spirit was crushed.

Men Pick Him up

"It just doesn't make sense," he said. "I thought all the people around here were my friends."

He was picked up by the men after leaving work at a service station.

Six white men drove into the station Saturday night and asked for a gasoline credit card. The white man left in charge of the station by the vacationing owners was not versed in the procedure for filling out credit applications. He referred the matter to Jones who had handled many such forms during his two and one-half years at the station.

Drive to Wooded Area

The men apparently became angered at having to apply for credit through a Negro. But they left without incident.

When Henry and his brother, David, 13, later walked into the yard of their home, they were dragged into a car by the same white men. David was thrown on the rear floorboard of the car and Henry tossed on top of him. The men held them there with their feet.

The men drove several miles to a wooded area. Henry was stripped to his shorts and tied to a tree. The men flayed him repeatedly with belts and knotted lengths of rope.

"Sometimes one would hit me and sometimes two of them at once," he said. David, made to remain in the car, was not harmed.

Jerome firemen fight the blaze which caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the Northside Lumber and Mercantile company building in Jerome Saturday. In addition to finished lumber, the blaze destroyed two large pickup trucks and a large tractor loader. However, fire did not damage the company's office. W. W. Weigle, manager of the lumber yard, said full extent of the loss could not be determined until an inventory had been finished. Insurance adjusters were investigating Monday. The fire, of unknown origin, started about 6:45 p.m. Saturday in the southeast corner of the lumber sheds and burned along the south wall. It was under control by 8 p.m. Saturday, although firemen remained at the scene some time. (Rose photo—staff engraving)

Congress May Get Into Civil Rights Fight During Session

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (UP)—Congress may run into a squabble over civil rights legislation when it convenes for its post-convention session.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N. Y., served notice yesterday he will introduce a bill containing main provisions of the Republican party's civil rights plank when the senate goes back to work a week from today. The house meets Aug. 15.

Sen. Styles Bridges, New Hampshire, chairman of the senate Republican policy committee, predicted civil rights legislation might be introduced and said he wouldn't be surprised if it would touch off a southern filibuster.

But Sen. Thruston Morton, Kentucky, GOP national chairman, made it clear he wants the session to steer away from what he called any ambitious or time-consuming measures.

Morton said Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois, Republican minority leader, shared his view on a limited agenda.

Democratic leaders have not included civil rights legislation in their plans for the session.

Javits said the new leaders in both parties should act as soon as possible to implement the civil rights platform pledges adopted at their conventions.

The New Yorker said he would like to have a Democratic senator join him as sponsor of legislation "to demonstrate the spirit of bipartisan cooperation which must exist from the very beginning if meaningful civil rights bills are to pass the senate."

Javits said these four recommendations in the GOP platform require legislative action:

1. A provision that completion of six primary grades in state accredited schools is conclusive evidence by literacy for voting purposes.

2. Authority for the attorney general to bring civil rights suits on behalf of individuals who charge denial of constitutional rights, including the right to attend a non-segregated public school.

3. Establishment of a federal commission on equal job opportunity.

4. Modification of the senate rule which Javits said "permits the filibuster and the threat of filibuster to frustrate the passage of meaningful civil rights bills."

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Anybody who has taken a child, or a number of children, on a long car trip knows how difficult it can be to keep the young travelers amused long enough to allow their guardians to relax for even a brief period. I have just read a book that, I am sure, offers many helpful suggestions for the harried parents who are taking their offspring along for a vacation trip.

The book is a compilation of games that the author, Dave Garroway, has found useful in this situation. He says they keep children entertained and at peace in the car. Who would not welcome that blessed condition?

One of his first suggestions, one that in my experience, as in his, is most important to the comfort of all concerned is: No luggage in the car. The children need all the space any car provides. They will make use of every inch of it and the fewer obstacles in their way the better.

The games are simple and need little equipment beyond pencils, paper (I like blank books—unruled—for this), crayons, a pack of cards, and someone other than the driver, to suggest, perhaps explain, the game. The children do the rest.

The author is emphatic about frequent stops for rest. This allows the children to stretch their legs and arms and their lungs all of which is essential to their comfort and to the peace of their parents.

The author wisely suggests that as often as possible, meals on the road be picnic style and so avoid the strain on the family's nerves that a formal meal entails. Children who have been confined in a car for even a few hours are not in condition to exhibit their better natures.

One excellent feature about this collection of amusing things to do on the road is that which points out how to present some of these games to a family of children varying in ages. It is, of course, best to select games that all can play because the one that is left out is certainly going to let his feelings be known. The wise parent adjusts things accordingly and how to do this is clearly set down.

Another wise suggestion: Don't try using all the games at one jump. Start with ones that look easy for the children in question, selecting carefully from time to time. As mother is usually in charge it is her pleasant duty to read, select, sit back and relax at seeing her choices work.

I believe that this book, "Fun on Wheels," can be a great help toward making a vacation trip with children easier on their parents.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet P-29, "Uniforms Are Not Introductions," send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

BURGESS, DENNEY DRIVE T.F. TO STATE SEMI-PRO CROWN

Denney Wins Most Valuable Player Trophy; Seven Area Men Make All-Star Lineup

The Twin Falls Merchants, getting booming power from Bill Denney and superlative pitching and a homer from Ted Burgess, dropped Nampa 9-5 early Monday morning to win the state semi-pro baseball championship. The victory, coming in an extra championship game after Nampa won the first 8-0, earmarked Twin Falls the right to play Vernal, Utah, next week-end at Reno for the regional title. The winner of that contest will become eligible for the national semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kans., the following week.

Denney, a former professional who played with the Magic Valley Cowboys two years ago, won the most valuable player award in a tight vote over Burgess. He ended his strong tourney showing by cracking long homeruns in the last two times at bat.

The final homer, which carried at least 425 feet, raised his total to five homeruns, one for each game he played. Denney also had three doubles and three singles in the meet for a .410 average, a mark which earned him the Louisville Slugger batting crown. The most valuable player trophy was donated by Valley Sporting Goods. Nampa received the runner-up award, presented by the Perrine lounge.

On the tournament all-star squad of 16 players, Magic Valley league placed seven men. Joe Mowry, Valley's scooting outfielder, was placed in rightfield and Floyd Ayers, Valley, was the top catcher choice.

Twin Falls players making the squad were Steve Thurman, second base; Denney, third base; Mike Stowe, utility infielder, and Don Watson, utility outfielder.

Burgess was named the ace of the tournament pitching staff, which also includes Rich Cromwell, Boise; Pat House, Nampa; Mike Preston, Buhl, and Dale Emmert, Payette.

Rounding out the all-star team were Bob Duffy, Pierce, catcher; Terry Skreener, Boise, first base; John Seminar, Nampa, shortstop; Fran Roman, Boise, leftfield, and Dick Wilson, Nampa, centerfield.

The tournament ran well into Monday morning because of a heavy rainstorm that struck early in the evening.

The first game of the night was postponed from 7 p.m. to about 8:40 p.m. as Ernie Craner, superintendent of parks and recreation, with the help of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce poured gasoline on the skinned infield and burned it to dry the diamond.

Nampa, which had defeated Boise 5-1 in the afternoon game, wasted little time in dooming Twin Falls to defeat. The Clippers belted starter John Royston with eight hits and six runs in the first three innings. Meanwhile, Dean Buffington, a southpaw, held the Merchants to three hits, Thurman getting two and Denney one.

But the tables were reversed in the last game, which started at 11 p.m. In the second inning, Burgess belted a lead-off homerun to start the outburst that drove starter Ron Heberger into the showers.

Harry Light, sr., drew a walk and Harry Light, jr., followed up by living on an error. Dale Crist belted a one-run single and another scored on an error.

In the third inning, with Pat House pitching for Nampa, Denney and Watson started with singles but Light forced Denney at third base. Two runs scored when an attempted double-play throw got away.

The Merchants followed up with two in the seventh as Denney clouted his first homer after Thurman lived on an error. In the eighth, Hendrix belted a double and scored on two wild pitches and Denney's second homer brought in the final Twin Falls run in the ninth.

While Twin Falls was padding its margin, Burgess was breezing along on a four-hitter. Two of those hits in the fifth inning by John Ashenbrener and Dick Wilson following a walk accounted for Nampa's only run.

Then the bone tired Nampa team got to Burgess who was just as tired after pitching 13 complete innings in beating Boise Saturday night.

Five singles and an error brought in four Nampa runs before Burgess, who hasn't been defeated this season, could close the Clippers out.

In earlier play, the defending champion Boise Merchants ousted Buhl 7-4 despite Doug Pembers three-for-four hitting including a homerun. Nampa then eliminated Boise in the afternoon game.

Awards Presented to Semi-Pro Tourney Champions

Bill Denney, left, the state semi-pro tournament's most valuable player, and Harry Light, manager of the newly crowned state champion Twin Falls Merchants, are congratulated by state commissioner Russ Hayes, Boise. Denney, batting .410 for his five games, had five homeruns, three doubles and three singles, to edge Twin Falls pitcher Ted Burgess for the MVP award. The Merchants topped Nampa 9-5 early Monday morning to clinch the title. (Staff photo-engraving)

Hiskey Wins Gooding Play With New Low

GOODING, Aug. 1—Young Babe Hiskey continued his torrid playing Sunday, wrapping up the Gooding amateur golf championship with a record low total of 168. Hiskey, a former state amateur champion, followed up his course record setting 65 Saturday with rounds of 34-35-34 on the 36-par course. The youthful Pocatello man easily outdistanced defending champion Newt Carter, Boise, who had a 181, 13 strokes behind the champ.

The Hiskey victory ended Carter's string of wins in Magic Valley. Carter had won the last four area major tournaments he had entered.

The tournament, which attracted 120, paid some $1,250 in merchandise awards. The top four golfers in gross and net divisions received prizes.

Littler Heads Into Open on Hot Putter

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Gene Littler headed today for the insurance city of Hartford, Conn., with a putting policy of his own that has brought him an average of $1,825 a week for the past three months.

The 30-year-old golfer from Singing Hills, Calif., classified his putting in the final round of Sunday's Eastern Open as his best of the year. "I've changed my stroke a little but it's not enough to describe," he said after winning the 11th annual event.

It let him down only once when he had to putt three times on the 15th green for one of his two bogey fives on his last tour of the Pine Ridge course. However, it also brought him seven birdies so he was five under par for the 67 windup.

Gary Player, the stellar South African, scored the same to finish runner-up by two strokes.

The $3,500 first prize sent Littler into the Insurance Open starting Thursday with $23,728 in golf winnings in his last 13 tournaments since May 1.

Al Besselink, Grossinger, N. Y., finished third with a 270.

Wild Night in Pioneer Has Wide Variety

By The Associated Press

There was everything from a no-hit game to a grand-slam homerun Sunday night in one of the wilder rounds of Pioneer league baseball action.

Dennis O'Mella pitched the no-hitter—a rare feat in this class C loop—as Missoula defeated Billings 2-0.

Pocatello swept a day-night pair from Great Falls 6-4 and 23-7 with Mike Castanon hitting the grand slammer for the hapless losers.

In the only other game, league-leading Idaho Falls defeated second-place Boise 14-14, with Ray Reed hitting his 31st homer of the season for the losers. He's the league's leading round-trip hitter, and his 31st was good for three runs.

Paul Higgs homered for Idaho Falls with a mate aboard in the first inning. The Braves used six pitchers against the league leaders, leaving only Herb Hippauf rested for Monday night.

O'Mella walked five men and struck out nine in pitching his fifth victory against four losses. He let two men reach base in the fifth inning, but then got the two outs he needed to keep things clean.

To counter Castanon's clout, Pocatello batters got four homeruns in the nightcap against Great Falls.

Bees and Rainiers Split Twin Bill

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 1 (AP)—Homeruns by Chick King and Hank Mitchell and the eight-hit pitching of young Tom Parsons propelled Salt Lake City to a 6-2 second game victory over Seattle Sunday after the Rainiers won the opener 7-6.

The nightcap victory at Derks field gave the Bees the series between the two teams 3-2.

Willie McCovey Is Back in Majors

By The Associated Press

Willie McCovey went back to the majors today to lend his booming bat to the cause of the San Francisco Giants.

Behind him was Tacoma, and the Giants of that city were sad, indeed, to see him go.

Big Willie bashed two homeruns Sunday, one in each game of a doubleheader, to lead the Pacific Coast league Giants past the floundering Vancouver Mounties 5-4 and 7-1.

Pro Football Is Back on Scene

By The Associated Press

Professional football edged its way into the sports picture over the week-end as two exhibition games were played by teams of the new American league.

The Boston Patriots took advantage of their opponents' misplays and showed accurate passing and speedy backs in trouncing the Buffalo Bills at Buffalo 28-7 Saturday.

Fullback Jack Spikes cracked over for two second-half touchdowns as the Dallas Texans defeated the Oakland Raiders 20-13 at Kezar stadium in San Francisco Sunday.

Boise Tennis Player Takes Top Spot on Wightman Cup Team

Jan Anduiza, Boise, nailed down the first position in the Idaho Junior Wightman cup tennis team during the round robin playoffs held Saturday and Sunday at Harmon park. Rain slowed play Saturday, but the last match was just completed Sunday when the rain began. Lois Lipe, Twin Falls, was second and Nancy Beach, Boise, was third. Other Junior Wightman cup players are Linda Brennan, Boise; Susan Brooke, Idaho Falls, and Susan Knight, Pocatello. Winning spots on the state junior league team were Helen Tomlinson, Boise; Molly Merrigan, Boise; Sandy Shellworth, Boise; Jeanne Medrud, Pocatello; Sondra Russell, Boise, and Donna Sutton, Boise.

Alternates to the teams will be Lois Trimnell, Twin Falls; Mary Schrier, Boise, and Gay Franklin, Parma.

The 15 girls will go to Salt Lake City Aug. 21 and 22 to play in the Intermountain divisions team matches. Teams from Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and Montana are entered.

In Saturday's play, the 28 entries were divided into two groups of 14 players each. Each girl played every other girl in her group four games. Sunday, the girls were divided into flights, similar to those in golf tournaments. These flights were decided by Saturday's play.

The tournament was co-sponsored by the Idaho Tennis association and the Twin Falls recreation department.

Indiana Put On Sidelines For Football

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Big Ten becomes the Big Nine for the 1960 football season—Indiana being knocked out of the championship race as a punitive measure for recruiting infractions.

The Big Ten Sunday placed the Hoosiers on a one-year probation, barred them from competing for the 1960 conference football crown and assessed them to what amounts to a $75,000 to $80,000 fine.

The fine comes in the form of cutting off Indiana from sharing in conference football television receipts for 1960.

The Bloomington, Ind., school, faced with paying for a 3½-million-dollar stadium to be dedicated this fall, was handed the penalty for excessive financial aid. Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson took the action after investigations, hearings and meetings extending for a year.

It follows the somewhat more severe measure taken last April by the NCAA in placing Indiana under a four-year probation, making the school ineligible to enter teams or athletes in NCAA championship competition, post-season games and participation in any television programs controlled by the NCAA.

Indiana will be permitted to play its 1960 football schedule, but the games will not count in the standings—either by the Hoosiers or by the teams playing them. Conference standings in any other sport are not affected.

Big Game Tags Same as in 1959

BOISE, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Idaho fish and game department says the same type of tags for big game used last year will be issued during the 1960 season.

Director Ross Leonard says the tags must be punched out in three places to show the month, day and kind of animal bagged. Then the tag must be fastened to the carcass immediately after the kill.

About 250,000 big game tags will be mailed to license vendors for the fall season. These include about 122,000 deer and elk tags for the general hunting seasons.

Patty Berg Finds Her Putting Touch

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Patty Berg was headed for the Waterloo open at Waterloo, Ia., today, confident that she has regained the chipping and putting touch that once made her a steady winner on the women's professional golf circuit.

The 42-year-old redhead won her first tournament since 1953 here Sunday, rallying with a 3-under-par 34 on the last nine to edge Kathy Cornelius, Springfield, O., by one stroke in the American Women's Open golf event.

Mrs. Cornelius also finished with a 70 for 293. Tied at 294 were third round co-leaders Mickey Wright, San Diego, and Marlene Hagge, Delray Beach, Fla., each of whom shot a 74.

Sandy Amoros, fielding star of the 1955 Dodgers in the World series against the Yankees, was waived out of the National league and traded to Detroit.

Pitching Records Studied

By United Press International

Calendar-thumbers comparing the July pitching records of Early Wynn and Bob Shaw are envisioning a second straight American league pennant for the Chicago White Sox.

The situation is almost similar to last season's stage when Wynn and Shaw won three games each during July and Chicago led the league by a game at the end of the month.

Chicago moved into a 1½ game lead Sunday as the big righthanders again chalked up victories No. 3 in July that enabled the White Sox to sweep a doubleheader from Washington 5-2 and 9-5.

Wynn, tossing a four-hitter in the opener, achieved a personal milestone when he struck out 11 Senator batters to run his lifetime total to 2,085—replacing Bobo Newsom in the 10th spot among the all-time major league strikeout leaders. He now needs only 28 more to pass the ninth man, Eddie Plank. Minnie Minoso helped Wynn to his seventh victory of the year when his two-run homer in the third inning broke a 2-2 tie.

Minoso rapped his 13th of the season in the second game to highlight a four-run, fourth inning that gave Shaw his 10th win. Gerry Staley came to Shaw's aid in the seventh and allowed only two hits the rest of the way. Roy Sievers hit his 20th homer for Chicago and tied Bill Skowron of the Yankees for the American league batting lead at .321.

In other American league games, the Yankees lost ground as they split a doubleheader with Kansas City, losing the first 5-2 in 11 innings and winning the nightcap 6-0. Baltimore edged Cleveland 6-5, and Boston split a twin bill with Detroit, dropping the first 9-6 as Ted Williams hit his 510th career homer, and taking the second 8-4.

Los Angeles defeated Milwaukee 7-5, Chicago again beat first-place Pittsburgh 6-2, Sam Jones pitched San Francisco to a 6-2 triumph over Cincinnati and St. Louis took a pair from Philadelphia 9-2 and 5-3 in National league games.

Milwaukee Driver Wins Big Race

ELKHART LAKE, Wis., Aug. 1 (AP)—Jim Jeffords, Milwaukee—piloting the Camoradi USA Maserati—won the 200-mile sports car Grand Prix at Road America Sunday.

Averaging 85.493 miles an hour over the four-mile paved course, Jeffords took the lead on the 38th lap.

Jim Hall, Dallas, Tex., and Loyal Katskee, Omaha, both in Maseratis, finished second and third respectively.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (UPI)—Stocks marked time today with prices moving narrowly on both sides of Friday's close. Wall street had looked for a pause today in the wake of Friday's sharpest gain in 13 months.

The market gave an irregularly higher appearance from the standpoint of the average, but this apparently stemmed from an unusually strong performance by Procter and Gamble.

The stock picked up nearly seven points on the endorsement of its Crest toothpaste by the American Dental association. The gain offset losses of a half or more scattered throughout the industrial average.

Steels, anticipating a drop in operations this week, displayed a generally easier trend. However, the American Iron and Steel institute reported that estimated output this week would jump nearly two points to 55.1 per cent of rated capacity.

Lukens slipped nearly two in the area where Republic lost more than a point. The last also reacted to sharply lower earnings for the second quarter. Youngstown and Jones and Laughlin drifted around one and U. S. Steel a small fraction.

Autos favored a fractionally lower trend. International Business Machines topped nearly 10 points in the electronics where Texas Instruments and Zenith fell around one.

Consolidated Edison gave up more than a point in the utilities. Schering more than two in the drugs, Universal Match around one in the vending machines and National Lead a large fraction in the metals.

Murdered Man's Identity Is Sure

MONTPELIER, Aug. 1 (AP)—Fingerprints have positively established identification of a man found murdered on an Idaho highway as Kenneth W. Roberts, 21, Moses Lake, Wash.

Sheriff Clifford Skinner, Bear Lake county, said he received word today from the federal bureau of identification, Washington, that fingerprints of the dead man matched those of Roberts.

A cloud was cast on the identification when a pathologist testified at an inquest Saturday that he could not find a small scar which relatives said Roberts had on a thumb.

Roberts' body was found early last Thursday beside highway 30N 21 miles east of Montpelier. His bloodstained automobile was found later that day abandoned in Logan, Utah.

Grains

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (UPI)—Soybeans, with gains extending up to 3½ cents a bushel, led all grains sharply higher today on the Chicago board of trade.

Crop developments, international news and talk of higher price supports when congress reconvenes touched off general buying in the market today, all bean and most all futures rose to new seasonal highs.

At the 1 o'clock, wheat was up to 1¾, corn up ¾ to 1¼, oats up ¾ to 1⅝, rye up 2 to 2½, soybeans up 2½ to 3½, and cash lard unchanged to up 27 cents.

No export sales were reported in wheat, but Pakistan was said to be in the market for a large purchase. The Korean government bought more than a million sacks of flour for Korean relief.

Local traders were the most active in corn. Spreaders sold September and bought December and March. Japan bought 3,000 bushels of corn.

In oats, shorts and exporters bought September. Commission houses bought distant contracts.

Rye followed the market with gains of more than two cents.

Outside markets were higher. Some futures at Minneapolis rose the 10-cent daily limit. Winnipeg markets were closed for a holiday.

Nixon Decides to Debate Kennedy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has formally accepted offers of free television and radio time to conduct a "great debate" with Sen. John F. Kennedy during the presidential campaign.

Nixon, in identical telegrams to the three major networks, said the joint appearances should be a free exchange of views, without prepared texts or notes.

Kennedy already has agreed to the debates.

Nixon said some of the free time offered by the networks should be used for individual appearances by the candidates, or for questioning by newsmen.

ORDER DISMISSED

BOISE, Aug. 1 (UPI)—The Idaho public utilities commission today dismissed an order for a Shoshone motor carrier to show cause why his permit should not be revoked. The PUC said that Robert M. Park had complied with the regulations by filing a proper motor carrier annual report for 1960.

Horse Hurt In Accident Near Burley

BURLEY, Aug. 1—F. H. Manning, 79, Burley, lost control of the 1959 Ford pickup truck in which he was hauling a saddle horse eight miles south of Burley on highway 27 at 1:15 p. m. Saturday.

Cassia County Sheriff LePage Layton who investigated the accident, stated that Manning apparently dozed at the wheel and went off the right side of the highway. Manning woke up and turned the wheels to get back onto the road. When he did this, the horse, which was being hauled, lost its balance. The horse's weight overbalanced the pickup and it overturned.

The horse was valued at $400 and was checked by a local veterinarian who stated it had internal injuries and would have to be shot. A total of $600 damage to the vehicle was estimated.

Accompanying Manning was his son, Linford Manning, who received cuts and bruises. He was taken to the Cottage hospital, treated and released.

F. H. Manning lost his glasses in the accident. A search was made for them; they were found, unharmed, hanging on the windshield wiper, which was unbent. However, the windshield was knocked out completely.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (UPI)—The deterioration in relations between the Soviet Union and the western world suggests more rather than less spending on aircraft and missiles in the months ahead, the Value Line investment survey reports.

The defense planks of both major political policies, it adds, stress military preparedness.

The prospects for higher sales and earnings in the aircraft industry have thus been improved by the events of the past three months, Value Line points out. "Contracts are less likely to be stretched out or canceled. Many may be accelerated."

Reynolds and company recommends Monsanto Chemical for investors interested in a growth issue. Monstanto's sales reached a new high in the second quarter and it is estimated that consolidated earnings for the year should run about the same or a little better than the $2.76 a share earned in 1959, the advisory service points out.

Armstrong Cork is the leader in smooth floor and wall coverings, says Dean Witter and company. The firm notes that the company's stock sells at 11.5 times estimated earnings and provides a 3.9 per cent yield which may be increased by a year-end extra."

The current price of Newmont Mining shares have been "unduly depressed" and could be considered to offer an opportunity for establishing long range investment positions in a long established, well-managed and successful company, according to Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis.

Spear and Staff suggests looking into Colgate-Palmolive considering the company's foreign operations, which contribute more than half of sales and earnings, appear highly promising. "The stock over the medium and long terms is expected to turn in a good performance."

Charles J. Moon Service Is Held

DECLO, Aug. 1 — Funeral services for Charles J. Moon were held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Declo LDS chapel with Bishop J. Harry Darrington officiating.

The family prayer was given by George Crofts and Winfield Hurst gave the invocation. Obituary was read by Bishop Darrington, who also was a speaker. Norman Hurst, second counselor in the Declo bishopric, also spoke. The benediction was given by Lloyd Blake.

Organ prelude and postlude music was played by Mrs. Norman Hurst, William Darrington, Robert Stevens, Wilford Richins and Welton Allen sang. Mrs. LaPriel Stoddard gave a piano solo. Julia Darrington and June Schmidt sang, accompanied by Mrs. Hurst.

Pallbearers were Glenn N. Moon, Keith E. Moon, Burton T. Moon, Ned N. Moon, Howard Wilkins and Theron R. Wilkins.

Floral arrangements were directed by the Declo Ward Relief society.

Final rites were held at Riverside cemetery, Heyburn, with Bishop Lens Hunt dedicating the grave.

Man Fined $250 For Killing Deer

BURLEY, Aug. 1—Alma J. Harris, 27, Burley, was fined $250 Saturday evening and was denied the privilege of a 1960 hunting license after he was arrested for possession of a deer taken during closed season.

Harris was arrested by Conservation Officers Fred Edwards, Kimberly, and Dale Horne, Albion. He took the deer in the Big Cedar Coal Pit area south of Murtaugh.

The fine was levied by Probate Judge Vern Carter, Burley, who by court order denied the license for 1960.

Orrie Leavell Wishes to Announce:

That he has sold his interest in the Gooding Livestock Commission Co., to Mr. Clarence Wilson of Jerome, well known as a livestock feeder and rancher. Mr. Wilson will be the partner of Carl Woolley, co-owner of the Gooding Livestock Commission Co. The new management invites their friends and patrons to continue using the facilities of the GOODING LIVESTOCK COMMISSION CO.

CARL WOOLLEY, Manager

As Foreign Car Owner Hank Says, He Bears Two Crosses

By HENRY McLEMORE

As the owner of a foreign sports car, I have only two crosses to bear.

One is the way I look in a plaid cap and Bermuda shorts.

McLemore

The other is the camaraderie of sports car owners. I am all for camaraderie, up to a certain point. I like the idea of sports cars blinking their lights sounding their horns and giving a friendly wave when they pass.

But it doesn't end there.

Sports car owners are never so happy as when talking about their own cars and asking questions about yours—but not questions a man can answer. They never ask why you bought a blue one instead of a white one, or how many miles you have on it, or how much it cost, or how many you can crowd in the back seat.

The first thing they want to know is what gear ration you prefer for the back axle, or if you have ever thought of using a de Dion rear end.

At first, I came clean when asked such mechanical riddles, and frankly admitted that I didn't know a thing about my car except I liked the way it looked and rode.

I quit this when I could no longer bear the looks I got. You would have thought that any man who didn't know all about torsion bars, trailing arms, toe-in and camber, torque and overhead cams, should be drawn and quartered.

One man came right out and told me—when I confessed that I didn't have any idea what brake horsepower my car had—that I shouldn't be allowed to drive it. He said my owning such a car was the same as a mule's owning a chess set.

Soon after this I stopped admitting my ignorance and adopted a new and aggressive technique. It isn't any fun, but it gets me off the hook with sports car owners.

When I find myself with a sports car owner, or a group of them, I start asking them questions before they can start on me, using words and phrases I have memorized from motor magazines.

"What do you fellows think of transmission gear ratios of 2.49 to 1 in low, 1.50 to 1 in second and 1.00 to 1 in high?" I ask, all in one breath.

And before they can answer, I go right on.

"I'm only getting 120 British horsepower at 5,800 revolutions per minute, although my single camshaft is set high in the block, and I am using the same independent front suspension Dr. Fiedler used on the great old BMW in 1929."

If anyone tries to interrupt, I wave him aside and continue.

"I am having a bit of trouble with my air-cooler and air scoop and wonder if I should do something about my pushrod overhead valves. And I'm not satisfied with my dry weight, either. Or my curb weight, for that matter. I may have to switch to dual choke Webers."

A little more talk like this and sports car owners are afraid to talk to me. Spoken fast, it makes me sound like a man straight from the Porsche or Ferrari factories.

Now, having learned how to hide my ignorance, all I have to do is burn the plaid cap and Bermuda shorts to be perfectly at ease.

U. S. Polaris Will Soon Be War Stopper

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Aug. 1 (AP)—Within three months, the U. S. is expected to begin expanding its war-deterrent business into 140 million square miles of "free real estate."

The acreage is the water which covers three-fourths of the world—and the natural habitat of one of America's deadliest weapons systems, the nuclear submarine and the Polaris ballistic missile.

October Date Set

The combine is expected to be "mature" for combat duty sometime in October. If the schedule holds up, the USS George Washington, a 380-foot atomic submarine, will be loaded with 16 nuclear-tipped Polarises and sent off to patrol duty in the seas.

The George Washington took another big step toward operational status by firing a Polaris missile from the depths of the Atlantic ocean to a target 1,150 statute miles away Saturday.

Third Success Noted

It was the sub's third success in as many submerged firing attempts. On July 20, the George Washington turned over a new page in global preparedness by shooting two Polarises from beneath the ocean's surface to targets 1,150 miles distant.

The navy has 14 nuclear subs built or on order, and it is asking for at least 45.

The range of the Polaris will be extended during test shots at the cape within the next few weeks. When it becomes militarily operational, the missile should be able to hurl a nuclear warhead up to 1,700 statute miles, the navy said.

"Father Bank"

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (UPI)—East Germany has established a "father bank" of refrigerated spermatozoa to guarantee communist survival in a nuclear war, the Insider's Newsletter reported today.

It quoted a Dresden newspaper as saying that the bank, located at the nuclear research center in Dresden, takes its spermatozoa only from the "physically perfect and intellectually elite." The newspaper also said that scientific breeding "will be commonplace tomorrow."

The scheme resembles a nazi project, run by Heinrich Himmler, which mated SS men with biologically screened German girls and resulted in 250,000 illegitimate births.

London Jazz Meet Causes Some Rioting

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—With one more night to go, the jazz festival on the estate of Lord Montagu went off smoothly last night after a brawling mob of teen-agers took over the night before.

Extra police were stationed at historic Beaulieu, the estate 68 miles south of London, to make sure there was no repeat of the melee at the opening session of Britain's fifth annual jazz festival.

Crowd Gets Unruly

The Saturday night crowd was noisy but did not get out of hand until the appearance of Aker Bilk, Britain's current Dixieland sensation, and his band. Then teenagers surged around the scaffolding holding large floodlights of the British Broadcasting corporation and began climbing the structure.

Others in the packed crowd began booing and pelting the climbers with apple cores, eggs and anything else handy.

Scores of fights broke out. The scaffolding collapsed, bringing down teen-agers and floodlights.

Action Seen on TV

Thousands of TV viewers watched the unexpected action. TV announcer Derek Jones told them: "Things have gotten completely out of hand. Obviously, this cannot go on."

The BBC closed the program. Lord Montagu said, "I think one can safely say that is the last jazz festival to be held here."

About 100 jazz fans turned up at the estate yesterday morning to help clear up the debris.
